Dear Mr. Boehning:

The Customs-Trade Partnership Against Terrorism (C-TPAT) is a voluntary initiative between U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) and private business to build relationships that strengthen international supply chains and improve U.S. border security. C-TPAT benefits include priority processing and reduced delays at the border.

Thank you for taking part in the revalidation of New Prime, Inc.. Enclosed, please find a copy of our report for your review and prompt reply. As noted in the executive summary, your company has demonstrated effective security within your own organization as well as a dedication to working with business partners to address supply chain security vulnerabilities that might exist. This work is the essence of C-TPAT, and CBP appreciates your commitment and cooperation.

In addition to verifying adherence to the practices outlined in the C-TPAT security profile, the revalidation was designed to build a stronger security partnership between New Prime, Inc. and CBP. I hope there was an opportunity for an exchange of ideas and "Best Practices" during the revalidation.

After review of the revalidation report for New Prime, Inc., it has been determined your company has carried out effective security practices and meets the current minimum security criteria for a Highway Carrier. Therefore, New Prime, Inc. may continue to have access to the Free and Secure Trade (FAST) lanes.
